

How to remit (pay) the GST/HST

Remit (pay) electronically

You can remit electronically using your financial institution's online or telephone banking services.

Please note, you do not need a remittance voucher to pay online.

You can also remit electronically using the CRA's My Payment option. This includes:

- Interact Debit
- Visa Debit
- Debit Mastercard

My Payment lets individuals and businesses make payments online from an account at a participating financial institution, using the CRA website. For more information, please go to: Pay now with My Payment

Payments made through My Payment option usually takes 1 to 3 business days to be processed by CRA.

Another online option is to authorize the CRA to withdraw a pre-determined payment from your bank account to pay tax on specific dates. You can set up an agreement at My Business Account.

Remit (pay) at your financial institution

GST/HST return file electronically

If you file your GST/HST return electronically, you can still remit your GST/HST at your financial institution.

- Use Form RC158, Remittance Voucher – Payment on Filing to pay the amount owing.

Other remittance forms for GST/HST payments include:

- Form RC159, Remittance Voucher – Amount Owing, to remit an amount owing or an outstanding balance for a period that has already been assessed
- Form RC160, Remittance Voucher – Interim Payments, to remit your instalment payments
- Form RC177, Remittance Voucher – Balance Due, to remit an amount owing before you file your return

Important: These remittance forms are not available on the CRA's website as they are can only available in a pre-printed format. For more information, see Order remittance vouchers or payment forms.

Remittance vouchers orders usually take 5 to 10 business days approx. for you to receive it by mail, once it is placed.

GST/HST return NOT filed electronically

If you are not filing electronically, you can file your return and remit an amount owing at your participating financial institution in Canada.

If you are paying at a financial institution and your return requires attached documentation, you have to send the CRA these documents separately.
